Overview

2021

2021: The year continued under the shadow of the Coronavirus pandemic and whilst restrictions gradually lifted through most of the year, it was a year of cautious opening of church and community buildings. Churches were acutely conscious of the need to care for those who attend our activities and many members of congregations remained nervous of social interaction. Whilst most churches did reopen their doors in 2021, online worship remained a feature of local church life (and seems set to continue in the future).

The reopening of buildings revealed issues around lack of maintenance and many local congregations have had to tackle repair issues and plan work accordingly. The full impact of the much-reduced use of buildings on condition will emerge over coming years.

However, despite the recent difficulties, some major works were undertaken. One of these was a project at St Brynach's Church Nevern, where a remarkable £500,000 was raised to restore the Norman church tower and its peel of ten bells. Following the installation of the new bells and test ringing, HRH Prince Charles visited the church in July 2021 as part of a week's tour of Wales.

2021 also saw the formal launch of Citizen Church, a new city centre church in Cathays Cardiff. One of its primary mission aims is to serve students and young professionals in Wales' capital city. It is committed to reaching this so-called 'missing generation' of 18-30 year olds who currently don't go to church.

The reorganisation of parish structures at a local level continues across Wales. This involves the creation of larger Ministry and Mission Areas comprising multiple church buildings managed by a clergy and lay team. This process does mean a greater capacity and shared skills base for planning building issues as well as more detailed scrutiny and review of needs and priorities.

The Church in Wales has been developing a framework for action on Climate Change and Net Zero Carbon.

This will be presented to the Governing Body in April 2022 and will identify the need to improve carbon literacy, the careful energy auditing of buildings and energy foot-printing to track progress. Buildings are the major contributor to greenhouse gas emissions by the Church but low carbon solutions for these specialized buildings are very challenging. There will be a need for more research and development in this area in the years ahead. There are also capacity issues over suitably qualified people to assess energy use and propose appropriate solutions. What is clear is that decarbonizing buildings will be a process of evolution and development through planned steps and decisions by each body responsible for buildings.

Closures and Redundancies 2021

2021 saw a slight reduction in closure numbers than previous years but this probably reflects the difficult conditions for considering challenging decisions like church closures. The pandemic has disrupted parish life and decision making but has also focused minds on future recovery. It remains to be seen how this will translate in church closures.

Once declared redundant, churches become the responsibility of the Representative Body rather than the local Ministry or Mission area. The Representative Body endeavours to find a suitable new use for the building by sale or lease. Closed church officers are employed to manage the buildings until disposal including health and safety issues.

The Representative Body makes an annual donation to the Friends of Friendless Churches alongside an annual grant from Welsh Government. This enables the Friends to receive important listed church buildings but the numbers of buildings they can receive is limited.

St Phillip, Bontddu, Barmouth (Listed I) was transferred to them in 2021 with St Cadoc, Llangattock-Vibon-Avel, Monmouth (Listed II*) transferring imminently. We are currently exploring with them the potential for transfer of several other redundant churches.

We endeavour to work with community and heritage groups to lease closed churches for community purposes but these schemes take many years to come to fruition given legal and funding constraints.
